1.0 Introduction

- 1.1 This Statement refers to the refusal of planning permission for the removal of condition 5 of planning approval NYM3/031/0010/PA to allow the occupancy of the dwelling to be unrestricted at Paddock House, Sutherland Lane, Cropton, near Pickering, North Yorkshire. The application was refused by the North York Moors National Park Authority (NYMNP) as the Local Planning Authority (LPA) on 5 December 2019.

2.0 Appeal Site and the Surrounding Area

- 2.1 The appeal property, "Paddock House", is situated in a remote location adjacent to Skelton Banks Farm and Peat Rigg Outdoor Activity Centre, approximately 1km to the east of Cropton Village, 4km from the A170 and 6.5km North West of Pickering.

The property comprises a four-bed stone and pantile property constructed in 1976.

- 2.2 The site is in an open countryside location within the North York Moors National Park. The immediate area around the property is largely forested, being located towards the southern edge of Cropton Forest, which is a largely coniferous forest, with some deciduous trees on the fringes and which is owned and managed by the Forestry Commission.

3.0 Relevant Site History

- 3.1 The property to which this appeal relates was granted planning permission in 1976. It was granted planning permission at that time following a need being demonstrated for an extra agricultural worker's dwelling to serve Skelton Banks Farm. Such a need was; and is still, under current adopted local development plan and national planning policies; a requirement for the approval of the construction of new dwellings in the open countryside. Consequently, the property is subject to the following agricultural or forestry occupancy condition: -

'The occupation of the dwelling shall be limited to a person solely or mainly employed, or last employed in the locality in agriculture as defined in Section 290(1) of the Town and Country Planning Act 1971, or in forestry (including any dependents of such a person residing with him) or a widow or widower of such a person.'

4.0 Proposed Development and the Decision

- 4.1 The application to which this appeal relates was validated on 7 October 2019 and sought consent for the removal of condition 5 of planning approval NYM3/031/0010/PA to allow the occupancy of the dwelling to be unrestricted.
- 4.2 The application was considered by the Planning Committee at its Meeting on 5 December 2019 and refused for the following reasons:-

1. It is considered that the existence of qualifying buyers for the property demonstrates that there is continuing need for the provision of this agricultural/forestry workers dwelling within the locality, and therefore the proposal is contrary to Development Policy 22 and Core Policies B and J of the NYM Local Development Plan.
2. The removal of the agricultural occupancy condition would be contrary to the provisions of Core Policies B and J of the NYM Local Development Plan which state that new residential dwellings in the open countryside will be subject to an agricultural, forestry and essential land management occupancy restriction. If permitted, the proposal would undermine the Spatial Strategy which seeks to ensure that the limited opportunities for new development in the open countryside in the National Park cater for essential rural workers rather than external market demand.
3. The removal of the agricultural occupancy restriction would result in the creation of an open market dwelling contrary to Development Policy 22 of the NYM Local Development Plan, which requires that if such a restriction were to be lifted it would be substituted with a local occupancy restriction to ensure the dwelling continues to provide housing for local needs, rather than meet external demand.

5.0 Planning Policy and Guidance

- 5.1 This section covers both the statutory Development Plan and the general implications of the location of the appeal site within a National Park.
- 5.2 At the time of decision, the Development Plan for the area formally consisted of the North York Moors Core Strategy and Development Plan Document (CSDPD) which was adopted by the NPA on 13 November 2008. (The Development Plan also consists of the Whitby Business Park Area Action Plan (2014) and the Helmsley Local Plan (2015), though these do not contain policies relevant to this appeal). The most relevant policies in the determination of this appeal are considered to be:

Core Policy B – Spatial Strategy

This Policy sets out the strategy to meet the needs of people in the National Park based upon improving the sustainability of local communities by improving and consolidating existing services and facilities and includes a settlement hierarchy of local service centres, service villages, local service villages, other villages and the open countryside. This Core Policy sets out that in the open countryside new housing development will only be permitted if it is related to an essential need to live in the countryside.

Core Policy J – Housing

This Policy seeks to ensure the provision of a mixture of housing types and tenure to maintain the vitality of local communities, consolidate support for services and facilities and support the delivery of more affordable housing. This includes restricting new housing development in the Open Countryside to that which is proven as essential for farming, forestry or other essential land management activities.

Development Policy 22 – Removal of Agricultural Occupancy Restrictions

This Policy seeks to permit the removal of agricultural occupancy restrictions only where it can be demonstrated that there is no longer a need for the accommodation either on the holding or the locality. It also requires that where permission is granted, the condition will be substituted with one which restricts occupancy to local needs as defined in Core Policy J, or if a local person cannot be found, a temporary holiday use or rented local needs use may be permitted.

The explanatory text for this Policy sets out that proposals for new dwellings will only be permitted in the open countryside where it is required to meet the needs of a person employed in agriculture, forestry or other essential land management activities, but that due to changing farm practices and the vulnerability of the agricultural sector there may be occasions where dwellings constructed for agricultural workers are no longer required. In such circumstances it is accepted that such properties should not be kept vacant, nor should the present occupants be unnecessarily obliged to remain in occupation simply by virtue of the agricultural occupancy condition. Consequently, if it is demonstrated that there is no longer an agricultural need for the accommodation the Authority may consider allowing the owners to find an alternative use for the accommodation such as holiday use or rented accommodation for people who meet the local occupancy condition criteria. However, if the owner wishes to dispose of the dwelling and has demonstrated to the satisfaction of the Local Planning Authority that they cannot find a suitable buyer, then the agricultural occupancy condition will be replaced with a local occupancy condition as set out in Core Policy J to ensure the dwelling serves a local housing need.

It should be noted that both local policy and national planning advice refers to the need for National Park Authorities to focus on delivering housing for local needs rather than the unrestricted market housing. Paragraph 78 of “English National Parks and the Broads UK Government Vision and Circular 2010” specifically states that National Park Authorities “have an important role to play as planning authorities in the delivery of affordable housing. Through their Local Development Frameworks they should include policies that pro-actively respond to local housing needs. The Government recognises that the Parks are not suitable locations for unrestricted housing and does not therefore provide general housing targets for them. The expectation is that new housing will be focused on meeting affordable housing requirements, supporting local employment opportunities and key services”.

- 5.3 Draft Local Plan - The Inspector's Report was received on 15 May 2020 which brought the Examination in Public to an end. A version of the draft Local Plan incorporating the Inspector's modifications has been produced and the Authority is planning to adopt the Plan at its National Park Authority/AGM Meeting on 27 July 2020. The relevant Policy in this Plan, which should now be given substantial weight is: -

Policy CO16 - Removal of Agricultural Occupancy Conditions

This Policy states that the removal of occupancy conditions relating to agriculture, forestry or other essential land management activity will only be permitted where it can be demonstrated that there is no longer a need for the accommodation on the holding or from persons meeting the conditions in the locality. Where this has been successfully demonstrated the condition will be substituted with a condition restricting occupancy to local needs in accordance with Policy CO13 (Policy CO13 restricts the occupancy of dwellings to those who meet the local connection for Local Needs Housing (Note A below). Such a condition is set out in Annexe A of this statement. Policy CO13 also states that subsequent applications to remove a local connection condition will only be permitted if it is clearly demonstrated that the property has been adequately marketed at a suitable price and for an appropriate period of 12-18 months and that in such circumstances the Authority will apply a principal residence condition (Note B below) as set out in Strategic Policy M of the Draft Local Plan.

The explanatory text for this policy sets out that as new dwellings are only permitted in the open countryside to meet the needs of people employed in agriculture, forestry or other essential land management activities, an agricultural occupancy condition will be attached to the planning permission to ensure that such dwellings remain available for use by agricultural or other workers in the local area for the long term and the Authority will only permit removal of agricultural occupancy conditions in exceptional circumstances.

However, it is recognised that changes in farming, forestry or land management practices may in certain circumstances mean that a dwelling constructed for agricultural workers is no longer required. Before considering an application for removal of the agricultural occupancy condition, owners must demonstrate that they have actively marketed the dwelling at a realistic price reflecting the occupancy restriction for 12-18 months, in order to find an occupant who satisfies the condition. Within this marketing period the Authority is likely to support a temporary permission to allow the dwelling to be let on a temporary basis to persons satisfying the local connection criteria. Once it can clearly be demonstrated that the dwelling has been adequately marketed at a suitable price for an appropriate period with no persons meeting the criteria, the Authority is likely to grant consent for the condition to be replaced with a local connection condition, in accordance with Policy CO13.

Note A Local Needs Housing. Since 1992 the Authority has used local occupancy conditions to ensure that new housing is used to meet the needs of local people or people with a social or employment need to live in that locality. In comparison with previous policies, however, the criteria used to determine local occupancy have been widened and are now referred to as 'local connection' criteria. The aim is to ensure that new housing developments in some areas are for the benefit of existing and future residents who make a contribution to the National Park community and economy.

Note B Principal Residence Housing. This is a form of market housing controlled by a mechanism which ensures it can be lived in by anyone but only as their main residence. Its aim is to provide housing for permanent residents rather than housing which can be used intermittently as a second or holiday home.

- 5.4 The National Planning Policy Framework - Planning law requires that applications for planning permission must be determined in accordance with the Development Plan unless material considerations indicate otherwise. The National Planning Policy Framework (NPPF) does not change the statutory status of the Development Plan as the starting point for decision making but is a significant material consideration in the determination of an application. Development that accords with an up-to-date Local Plan should be approved, and conversely development that conflicts should be refused unless other material considerations indicate otherwise. The North York Moors Core Strategy and Development Policies Document (CSDPD) was adopted on 13 November 2008 under the provisions of the 2004 Act and for the purposes of housing policies is considered not to conflict with national policies in the NPPF (this has been concluded in previous appeal decisions by PINS) is therefore up-to-date and should be the starting point for any decision making in the North York Moors National Park.

However, the North York Moors Draft Local Plan is due for adoption on 27 July 2020 and it may be that when this appeal is being considered by the Planning Inspectorate that the Draft Local Plan has been adopted and will therefore be the up-to-date plan.

The Government's commitment to the protection of National Parks is clearly set out in the NPPF (February 2019). Paragraph 172 says that great weight should be given to conserving landscape and scenic beauty in National Parks, which have the highest status of protection in relation to landscape and scenic beauty. It goes on to advise that the conservation of cultural heritage is an important consideration and should be given great weight in National Parks.

Furthermore, whilst at the heart of the NPPF is a presumption in favour of sustainable development; Paragraph 172 also confirms that the scale and extent of development within these designated areas should be limited. It is clear therefore that the NPPF expects a different approach to be taken in National Parks both to plan making and decision taking compared with other areas outside of designated National Parks. The need to control unrestricted housing in the open countryside is therefore of even greater significance within a protected landscape and it is important that exceptions to this to allow for housing to meet agricultural needs should be retained as a stock for ongoing and future needs of the agricultural community within the National Park.

In specific context of this Appeal, Paragraph 54 of the NPPF sets out that Local Planning Authorities should only impose conditions where they are necessary, relevant to planning and relevant to the development to be permitted and Paragraph 79 states that planning policies and decisions should avoid the development of isolated homes in the countryside unless there is an essential need for a rural worker to live permanently at or near their place of work in the countryside.

- 5.5 The North York Moors National Park was formally designated in 1952 under the National Parks and Access to the Countryside Act 1949. The two key purposes are to conserve and enhance the natural beauty, wildlife and cultural heritage of the National Parks and to promote opportunities for the understanding and enjoyment of the special qualities of the Parks by the public. When it appears that there is conflict between these purposes the 'Sandford principle' confirms that greater weight should be given to the first purpose, the conservation of the landscape (English National Parks and the Broads Circular 2010), 'Environment Act 1995, part III: 'National Parks' DoE, 11 September 1996.

6.0 Local Planning Authority's Case

6.1 The main issue is considered to be whether it has been demonstrated that the property has been marketed at a reasonable price (reflecting the occupancy restriction) for a sufficient period of time without a reasonable offer being made by someone who complies with the restriction, and as such demonstrating there is no continuing need for the agricultural occupancy condition.

6.2 Marketing, Value and Offers to Purchase the Property - The supporting information submitted with the application and this Appeal, sets out why the current owner (appellant) doesn't require this dwelling and also sets out that extensive and satisfactory marketing had been carried out. Officers considered the valuation of the property and looked at other detached four bed properties on the market in the locality. It was considered that the asking price represented a satisfactory reduction in value to take account of the agricultural occupancy restriction.

6.3 The Assessment of Need and Enforcement of Planning Conditions - As a Local Planning Authority, the National Park Authority is the statutory enforcing body in terms of enforcing planning conditions. The appellants planning agent has set out his considerable experience in the field of dealing with 'agricultural occupancy conditions'. Notwithstanding the planning agents experience in this area, Officers consider the appellant's agent's analysis of whether there is a continuing need for the condition flawed in respect of:-

- how the compliance with the condition should be assessed;
- considering that the Occupancy Condition requires someone to be in Housing Need;
- considering that it needs to be proven that no other affordable accommodation is available in the locality;
- the acceptability of forestry employment and
- not acknowledging potential continuing need for local retired workers who would comply.

6.4 In terms of the level of interest and assessment of need, the appellant's agent has advised that whilst offers were made, none of the interested parties demonstrated an agricultural or housing need to live in the property and consequently the offers were rejected. However, the Local Planning Authority was not given the opportunity to assess whether prospective purchasers would comply with the restriction as they were told by the appellant's agent that they didn't comply, rather than advising them to contact the National Park Authority, as the statutory enforcing body in terms of enforcing planning conditions, to confirm whether or not they did comply with the occupancy condition.

6.5 It did however come to the Authority's attention that prospective purchasers had offered the asking price on a number of occasions (most recently in August 2019), but had been advised by the appellant's agent that they didn't comply with the restriction and therefore could not purchase the property. Nevertheless, this prospective purchaser submitted a formal discharge of condition application to the National Park Authority in February 2019. This was approved, as satisfactory evidence was submitted regarding the compliance of both partners with the agricultural occupancy restriction, one working in the locality in forestry (confirmed in writing by the employer at the Forestry Commission to be a wildlife ranger responsible for the area of Cropton Forest) and the other in the locality in agriculture (Assistant Farm Manager at Westfield Farm Cropton, with her employment confirmed in writing by the owners of Westfield Farm, stating that her work responsibilities were within all areas of the farm, including the food production unit, the arable farm, maintenance and hatchery work). The NPA's Director of Planning has visited Westfield Farm which is evidently an extensive arable farm, in addition to the pheasant rearing aspect, and he is satisfied that this is an agricultural enterprise, albeit with a game breeding element to the business. The Authority is not aware that the appellant's agent has visited the farm itself, rather is purely relying on the website advertising for the game breeding element of the business (it would be unusual and unnecessary for the arable side of the business to be advertised in the same manner).

- 6.6 This offer verifies that an interested party who clearly meets the restriction has attempted and until recently was still attempting to purchase the property with the restriction in place. This recently rejected offer needs to be taken into consideration with this current appeal.
- 6.7 The points raised in sections 6.5 and 6.6 above were further demonstrated by objections received in relation to the planning application to which this appeal relates (full copies of which were attached with the initial appeal questionnaire documents). Objections were received from two separate parties who unsuccessfully attempted to purchase the property. One party was the couple referred to in 6.5 above, one of whom works for the Forestry Commission and the other being the Assistant Farm Manager at Westfield Farm, Cropton. The Forestry Commission worker has Cropton Forest (the forest immediately adjacent the application site) as his main place of work and he explained that he needs to live in the area for various reasons, including dealing with fires and timber protection, species management for the protection of the growing timber stands, completing environmental assessments for works to be carried out i.e. felling of trees, ground preparations for planting, and also planting trees and which tree species to be planted where. The Assistant Farm Manager explained that she runs the arable side of the farm business, as well as being responsible for all the alarms on the units which is why she also needs to live close to her place of work. The other objector stated that he tried to view the house with the intention of making an offer but was told by the appellant's agent that he did not meet the criteria, even though he advised that he was a farmer with a holding number in the locality.
- 6.8 Requirements of the Agricultural Occupancy Condition - The appellants' agent argues that in order to comply with an agricultural occupancy condition, a prospective occupier must be in housing need and must demonstrate that there is no other suitable housing available in the locality. However, these criteria relate to evidence required by policy when considering an application to construct a new agricultural workers dwelling on a particular farm holding. This is set out in Core Policy J of the Core Strategy, Policy CO10 (Housing in Open Countryside) of the Draft Local Plan and Paragraph 79 of the NPPF. It is acknowledged that a proposal for the construction of a new house in the open countryside would have to meet these tests and would only be permitted if these criteria (and others relating to financial and functional tests) were met. However, this proposal is not for the construction of a new dwelling in the open countryside and consequently, those policy criteria do not apply. Further advice is contained in National Planning Policy Guidance in "Housing needs of different groups" and sets out that evidence is required for new dwellings, of the necessity for a rural worker to live at, or in close proximity to, their place of work to ensure the effective operation of an agricultural, forestry or similar land-based rural enterprise.

- 6.9 The occupancy restriction attached to such dwellings reflects the special circumstances under which such new dwellings in the open countryside are approved (as set out in Paragraph 6.8 above) and seeks to ensure that such dwellings continue to be available for this purpose even if the requirement on the holding it was originally built to serve has changed. Consequently, the agricultural/forestry worker occupancy condition does not require a person to be in housing need or to demonstrate that no other properties are available, just that they are 'solely or mainly employed, or last employed in the locality in agriculture... or in forestry.'
- 6.10 The condition requires that an occupant is employed in either agriculture or forestry in the locality; but there is no "housing need" element to this condition, i.e. it does not prevent an existing home owner who is employed in agriculture or forestry from moving into this property. As set out in 6.9 above, the need element applies to the construction of a new agricultural workers dwelling on a farm holding, rather than the subsequent occupancy of an existing agricultural workers dwelling.

- 6.11 Forestry Workers and compliance with the occupancy condition - The definition of agriculture as set out in both the 1971 Act and subsequent 1990 Town and Country Planning Act is as follows: -

'Horticulture, fruit growing, seed growing, dairy farming, the breeding and keeping of livestock including any creature kept for the production of food, wool, skins or fur, or for the purpose of its use in the farming of land, the use of land as grazing land, meadow land, osier land, market gardens and nursery land and the use of land for woodlands where that use is ancillary to the farming of land for other agricultural purposes'.

There is no definition within the Act relating to forestry.

It should be noted that the condition to which this appeal relates refers to agriculture as defined in the relevant Act, OR forestry; that is including forestry as an independent occupation, not just ancillary to an agricultural activity.

- 6.12 Retired workers. The condition also applies to last employed, thereby being available to local retired agricultural or forestry workers. As such these types of dwellings provide an important part of the National Park's housing stock which particularly allows older generation farmers or forestry workers to find suitable accommodation whilst allowing younger farmers to take over farm houses/bungalows located within working farm steadings without the need for additional farm worker dwellings on the units.

- 6.13 Removal of condition to allow an open market dwelling. The appeal proposal seeks permission to remove the condition in its entirety to provide an open market dwelling. The reason put forward by the appellant's agent is that the house has been inherited by the appellant who works in an industry outside of agriculture or forestry, and who owns and lives in a property elsewhere; and therefore does not require the appeal property. However, as set out in Sections 5.2 and 5.3 above, even if it was considered that satisfactory evidence had been submitted to demonstrate that the property could not be sold to someone complying with the agricultural or forestry worker condition, the removal of the condition and creation of an open market dwelling would be contrary to adopted planning policy. The Authority's adopted policies require that if satisfactory evidence is provided that there is no longer an agricultural or forestry need in the locality, such a restriction would be replaced with a local occupancy restriction, in accordance with both Development Policy 22 and Core Policy J of the Core Strategy, and also Policy CO16 of the Draft Local Plan, to ensure that the property continues to meet local housing needs. No marketing exercise has been undertaken for a Local Occupancy Dwelling in relation to this property so it hasn't been determined that there are no prospective purchasers who would meet the local occupancy criteria wishing to purchase the property.

7.0 Comments on Grounds of Appeal and Claim for Costs

- 7.1 It is considered that the material planning issues of this case are relatively straightforward and are adequately addressed in Section 6 above. The volume of information provided by the appellant does not circumvent the relatively straightforward, clear and correct planning judgements involved. Accordingly The Local Planning Authority does not feel it is necessary to make any further comments in relation to the appellants Statement of Case at this stage, but will provide any additional information requested as part of this Appeal.
- 7.2 In response to the appellants Costs Claim, the Local Planning Authority would comment that the Authority has considered the appeal proposal correctly in the context of adopted and emerging planning policies, national policy and on the evidence before them of genuine interest from interested parties complying with the agricultural and forestry occupancy restriction. The LPA does not believe it has behaved unreasonably in refusing the planning application to which this appeal relates. The appellant has not applied relevant policies correctly and has refused/failed to recognise the relevance of the existence of parties that satisfy the occupancy restrictions and are seeking to purchase the property. Consequently, the Authority contests the claim for costs.
- 7.3 The Authority believes a relevant and aggravating factor in this matter has been the behaviour of the appellant's planning agent, who has sought to get around relatively straightforward and clear planning judgements by whatever means possible, including a lengthy failed process of corporate complaints. The agent, PSi Planning Law, operates in part through website www.agtiesremoved.com

8.0 Conclusion

- 8.1 In conclusion it is considered that whilst the property was marketed for 18 months until autumn of 2019, at a reasonable asking price, the appellant has continued to refuse to sell the property to a qualifying person who has repeatedly offered the asking price to purchase the property. Furthermore, whilst the appellant's agent has continually argued that the appellant would not sell to the prospective purchaser as he did not consider they complied with the occupancy restriction, he subsequently emailed that prospective purchaser and offered to sell the property to him if he paid 40% above the asking price – see Appendix B.
- 8.2 Furthermore, the appellant's agent has made it clear that even if it was accepted that there was no longer an agricultural need, he would not accept a local occupancy restriction as a substitute, which would be contrary to adopted Policy.

- 8.3 In view of the above consideration the LPA respectfully requests that the Inspector dismisses the appeal. However, should the Inspector be mindful to allow the appeal, a list of conditions which the LPA would wish to see imposed are attached at Appendix A.

APPENDIX A

Conditions

The first suggestion is to vary the condition so that it reflects the updated Agricultural Occupancy condition in accordance with Core Policy J of the Local Development Plan or Policy CO10 of the Draft Local Plan (due to be adopted on 27th July 2020), as follows:-

- A. The occupation of the dwelling shall be limited to a person solely or mainly employed, or last employed, in the locality in agriculture as defined in Section 336 of the Town and Country Planning Act 1990 (or in any provision equivalent to that Class in any statutory instrument revoking and re-enacting that Order), or in forestry, or other essential land management activity, or a dependant of such a person residing with him or her, or a widow or widower of such a person.

OR

Local Occupancy Condition as required by Development Policy 22 of the Local Development Plan or Policy CO16 of the Draft Local Plan

- B. The occupation of the dwelling hereby permitted shall be limited to:

- i) a qualifying person; and
- ii) a wife or husband (or person living as such), licensee, dependant or sub-tenant of a qualifying person.

For the purpose of the above, a person is a qualifying person in relation to the dwelling if he/she has an interest in the dwelling (see Note A) and, immediately prior to occupying the dwelling, he/she satisfied the Local Planning Authority that he/she was in need of local needs housing in terms of the criteria set out in Policy of the adopted North York Moors Local Plan, namely that he/she:

- a. Currently resident in the National Park, having been resident in the Park for at least the previous 3 years; or
- b. Currently in employment in the National Park; or
- c. Having an essential need to live close to relative(s) who are currently living in the National Park; or
- d. Having an essential requirement for substantial support from relatives who are currently living in the National Park; or
- e. Former residents whose case for needing to return to the National Park is accepted by the Authority.

Prior to the occupation of the development the qualifying person shall have obtained confirmation in writing from the Authority that they satisfy the local need criteria outlined in points a - e above.

Note A: For the purposes of the above, a person has an interest in the dwelling if he/she has a freehold or leasehold interest in the whole or any part of it, or is a secure tenant or statutory tenant within the meaning of the Housing Act 1985 or the Rent Act 1977.

Note B: For the purposes of the above, resident within the National Park will include the whole of parishes split by the National Park boundary with the following exceptions:: Allerston, Beadlam, Burniston, East Harlsey, Ebberston and Yedingham, Great Ayton, Great and Little Broughton, Great Busby, Guisborough, Irton, Kirkby in Cleveland, Kirkbymoorside, Lockwood, Nawton, Newby Pickering, Potto, Scalby, Snainton, Sutton under Whitestonecliffe

In these cases a qualifying residence must be strictly within the National Park boundary.

APPENDIX B

Correspondence from Prospective Purchaser

The copy of an email below from the appellant's agent, to the prospective purchaser, has been sent to the Local Planning Authority by the prospective purchaser, who has given the LPA written consent to submit as part of its statement (but has also submitted it directly to the Planning Inspectorate).

This email demonstrates that whilst the appellants case is based on the fact that he wouldn't sell the house to someone he didn't think complied with the condition, he then offered to sell the house to that same prospective purchaser, but for £110,000 more than the asking price of £275,000, that was advertised on the Estate Agents website.

Dear Mr Keane

Re: Paddock House

I understand from Jamie of Rounthwaithe & Woodhead that you still remain interested in buying Paddock House and wonder if the vendor would take an offer on the property.

In light of the above, I have discussed the matter with the vendor who confirms that he would be prepared to consider offers in the region of £385k.

As we are now dealing with all interest in the Paddock House on behalf of the vendor, please kindly revert back to me if you are interested in making an offer in the price region referred to above.

Yours Sincerely
