Hi Jill,

I realise the date for comments was on the 3rd December but as the response from Highways was only just put on on the 3rd I feel I should be able to respond to Mr Lyth's comments.

I obviously didn't make it clear enough that what I meant by "utilising" the grassed area, was that the whole area to the side of the house would be hard standing and not just parking on the grass next to the drive as this would obviously soon become a mud bath. Although I did mention it being a double width drive but maybe he missed that bit.

As you can see from the scale drawing attached, there is ample room for 3 cars to be parked on the area to the side of the house. This is the amount of cars Mr Lyth recommends for this property. I'm sure Mr Lyth would now agree that the area can now be treated as formal parking as he suggests.

Thanks

Simon.
