Hi Helen

With regards to our planning application please see the following information:

- the new planning application is inline with the original planning consent. The new building is going to be shorter and therefore doesn't encroach onto the retaining wall and has no effect or damage on the current tree line.
- all the trees will be retained as in the original survey and no machinery will be working within the woodland.
- I can confirm that the previous tree survey in 2019 is still accurate and nothing has changed.

Many thanks
