Thanks for this Kelsey.

We have a mains water supply, so no private water supply.

There may need to be a slight change to our plans, as we may be getting rid of our existing toilet block and incorporating into the building, in which case the toilet and sinks (including kitchen sink) would run into the existing septic tank.

I will try to give you a call next week to discuss some issues that have come up since our planning application (mainly good things!), which may cause some potential changes.

thanks, Mark
