Background

Oakwood is a detached modern bungalow constructed with white rendered external walls and flat concrete tile roof. It is sited in an isolated location, near Fylinghall School in Fylingdales. The property is situated on a steeply sloping hillside and consequently, the front south east facing elevation has a decking area attached to the ground floor area which is approximately 2 metres above outside ground level.

Planning permission was granted in 2006 for extensions to the property, comprising replacing the existing greenhouse with a bedroom and bathroom extension and to extend the previous lounge extension with a dining room extension. With that previous application, the Parish Council expressed concerns about the white render of the property and how prominent that made it, and it was agreed that the dwelling would be rendered a stone colour.

This application seeks permission for an additional extension to the rear of the property replacing the existing cloak room and utility room with a larger rear extension measuring 2.2m deep x 11.6m wide (2m narrower than length of bungalow) and an infill at the side measuring 2.5m wide x 3.5m deep, to enable a re-arrangement of internal space so that the kitchen, dining and living room area are all located on the south east elevation with access out onto the veranda and views across the valley.

The rear, trackside elevation would be altered from a large lean-to sloping roof and 1970's style external chimney stack, to a large and wide gabled extension. This element is set at a lower level than the adjacent access road and screened by a 1.5m high retaining wall.

The applicant has submitted details suggesting the property would be re-rendered with a rough render coloured "mint" which is effectively a white with a hint of green. However, in view of the previous requirement to render a stone colour, it is considered that "mint" would be too stark and stand out across the hillside and would therefore not be an appropriate colour.

Main Issues

Development Policy 3 seeks to maintain and enhance the distinctive character of the National Park by ensuring that the siting, layout and density of development preserves or enhances views into and out of the site; that the scale, height, massing and design are compatible with surrounding buildings; that the standards of design are high; that there is satisfactory landscaping and that the design takes into account the safety, security and access needs for all potential users of the development.

Development Policy 19 of the LDP states that proposals for extensions or alterations to dwellings, or other development within the domestic curtilage will only be supported where the scale, height, form position and design does not detract from the character of the original dwelling and its setting; the development does not adversely affect the amenities of neighbouring occupiers and that annex accommodation is ancillary to the main dwelling.

The proposed extensions to this property are minor in nature and are considered to improve the appearance of the existing dwelling, which currently has a rather untidy appearance due to the variety of previous extensions and add-ons. The property is located in a prominent location and can be seen on the hillside from the road between Fylinghall and Boggle Hole, however, it is not considered that the proposed extensions or re-rendering would increase the prominence of the dwelling as the extension would be on the rear side of the property. Whilst the rear extension would have a wide gable, it is not considered to be out of keeping with the modern nature of the property and would be partially screened by a retaining wall. Overall it is considered that the appearance of the property would be improved and approval is recommended.
