Hi Helen,

We've noted the comments made below and it's a shame that they have declined to revise internal layout but we do not feel this is not something which would make the scheme refusable. OK with having windows in existing doorways, but all depends on the details so happy to comment further when amended plans come in. Timber infilling could be acceptable, or retaining stable door but have bottom half fixed shut (with breezeblock infilling behind) or something along those lines? If you have any decent photos of successful treatments it might be good to forward them on. All I could find was the attached.

Thanks,
