Dear Mrs Saunders,

Application for non material minor amendments to planning approval NYM/2009/0439/FL to allow installation of Velux rooflight to Porch extension, retain original back door and tile conservatory roof in materials to match the existing house at Silpho Brow Cottage, Silpho Brow.

Grid Reference 98118 93295

Further to our recent telephone conversations (three) concerning the above and Mr Hills letter dated 5th July 2010. We don't consider these to be minor amendments they are structural. Of concern is that the Velux rooflight has been installed in a permanent manner, before planning permission has been given, especially as Mr Shipman states on his Revised Planning application that No prior advice has been sought from the local authority about this application.

Conservatory roof, this is a structural alteration. But we have no objections to this alteration, as it will decrease the light pollution.

Velux Skylight, Object most strongly, as this is at eye level from a bedroom, and also from the outside of our home, as they have lowered the level of their extension, this will cause considerable light pollution, as it will also floodlight their exterior wall causing reflected light to enter our property. This will mean that there will be a total of Four Velux Skylights looking directly into our property, as our property is considerably higher than theirs. A site visit would confirm this intrusion of our privacy.

Retain Back Door, No objections as long as the door is solid with no glazing at all, as shown on the revised drawing, if any glazing, this would not be acceptable as this would cause further light pollution.

We hope that on this occasion you will take notice of our concerns. We look forward to hearing your favourable comments in the near future.

Yours faithfully,

Peter and Sheila Davey.
