Dear Mrs Saunders.

Further to our earlier corresponded please find attached the paperwork in relation to the non-material amendment As mentioned in my previous correspondence relating to this, we would like to have the entrance door on the front elevation in white plastic to match all the existing doors and windows. I have included a drawing from Cowan windows so that you can better visualise this, and as you can see there is no change in the design.

And if possible we would like to remove the two roof lights that are in the apex of the new roof on the front (south) elevation, as we do not think that these are necessary being so close to the glazed door, would serve no real purpose, would not be thermally efficient, and would be more expensive. And we believe it would look better without them. I have enclosed drawings both with and without the windows.

Regards. A C Duncalfe
